The ELM Group Receives Chamber Award

NEWBURGH, INDIANA -- Ed Lahue, president and founder of The ELM Group, was recently awarded the 2003 Small Business Development Center Volunteer Award by the Evansville Metropolitan Chamber of Commerce's Small Business Development Center. The award was given in recognition of his contributions in educating new and existing small business owners.

The ELM Group (www.elmgrp.com) is a strategy and innovation consulting firm, which helps organizations find new growth through better business strategy, marketing planning, and new product or service development.
